School Notes.

Teachers' examinations Thursday and Friday, Nov. 11 and 12 at Canaan and Bloomfield.

Many visitors listened to excellent work in the grammar room Friday afternoon at the hour of public speaking. Every school in town observes this hour of expression work every Friday, every second Friday in the high school, from 2:30 to 3:30. It is a time when life situations function; entertainment and instruction are at a premium.

Supt. Darling speaks very highly of the periods of silent reading in some of the schools.

George Kleine's five-part farce,
"Stop Thief," which plays at the Opera House on Monday, Nov. 15th, is said to be one of the funniest comedies in film and possessed of more genuine hearty good laughs even than the illustrious stage success on which it is founded. Certainly the film version retains all the fun essentials of the play with many additional touches of humor not possible to the three acts of the farce.

There are some decidedly interesting things in the production of "Stop Thief" that make for things worth while in filmland. Principal among these is the fact that George Kleine did not cheapen his production with the ordinary run of motion picture actors, but engaged all the members of the original "Stop Thief" company who made the stage play so famous. The cast includes Mary Ryan, who created the role of the light-fingered maid, Harry Mes-tayer, Auguste Burmester, Marguerite Boyd, Harold Howard, Della Connor, William Boyd, Dan Moyle and others.

The story deals with kleptomania.
A kleptomaniac is defined by Webster as a wealthy person of extraordinary absent-minded tendencies and morbidity impulses. The mania usually demonstrates itself by the victim of it being discovered in the act of making a valuable collection of articles that do not belong to him.
When the poor man is caught doing the same thing he is arrested as an ordinary thief. That is a detail, however.

There are two kleptomaniacs and two real crooks in "Stop Thief." Also there is a double wedding pending. Into this household a thieving maid introduces her sweetheart, a real crook. The kleptomaniac is the millionaire father of the two girls about to wed. The bride-to-be is aware of her father's predilection for stealing but is ignorant of the fact that her future husband is so afflicted. One valuable article after another disappears in the most mysterious manner and in the search for the culprit many funny situations are evolved.

News from Essex County Court.

The case of Farmers' Co. vs. Sandwich Mfg. Co. was completed on Nov. 2, resulting in a verdict for the plaintiff for $594.68.

On Nov. 3rd a jury consisting of the following named persons was drawn in the case of Jean Louis Robert vs. Fitzgerald Land and Lumber Co.—Earl Stevens, John Stanton, Frank Mason, Leo J. Steady, S. W. Smith, B. S. Ford, F. G. Schoff, Charles Hill, Henry Stevens, Herman Mason, J. N. Hardy, C. J. Larry.

The case involved a breach of logging contract. In the early winter of 1912, the plaintiff took a contract from the Fitzgerald Land and Lumber Co. to clear certain lots of land in Norton of all merchantable timber including pulp wood. Later on, in the following May, the plaintiff took an additional contract to clear certain other lots also in Norton.

The plaintiff claimed that in the midst of the performance of this contract, in August, 1914, it was revoked by the defendant and the plaintiff was told to stop which left him with a large amount of supplies, equipment and horses on his hands with nothing for them to do.

The trial finished Nov. 8, and the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,549.27.
The case of Joseph Thibault vs.
Chas. Gans, for recovery of sum claimed to be due under a logging contract has already begun, the following jurors having been drawn—T. E. Dorman, W. A. Paine, W. H.
Murphy, L. T. Parker, Neil A. Ross, John Willson, Chas. Fitch, E. E.
Wilson, Allie Currier, Fred J. Daniels, W. P. Streeter, Chas. Roby.
It will probably occupy the attention of the court for the balance of the week.
